A PRETTY CANTATA IS "WILDWOOD VOICES"

Prettily Costumed Little Folk Give Splendid Presentation on Beautiful Woodland Stage

On the wild wood stage of nature's own building, a scene in itself as pretty as might be wished for, the novel cantata production "Wildwood" voices was given by the little people of the Congregational church, Friday evening. The full program of the evening was something, unique, quite out of the ordinary, and highly pleasing to everyone of the good sized audience witnessing its presentation.

The wildwood stage was a profusion of greenery, above it, about the floor and on every side were the pretty green houghs, and the different, hued flowers. The brownies romping about, peeping here and there from amidst the greens and even playing peek-a-boo from the tree tops above was a novel scene. The musical numbers by the wood nymphs, wee wees, fairies, fairy princes and all the other little folks, were pleasingly rendered.

Another unique part to the program was the short preliminary concert by the Tempe band, rendered from a midst the greenery of the wildwood.

LOST—Small gray pony; weight about 800 and black gelding, weight about 1200; reward. Return to Finch's Livery, Tempe.

CLOSING MEETINGS

The revival meetings that have been carried on, with so much success at the Christian church for the past two weeks will close tonight at 7:45 with the preaching service, when Evangelist Claude Jones will preach on "The Millennium and Afterwards," a sermon in which there is full discussion of the events concerning the undoubted soon-to-be second coming of Christ. There have been many additions to the church during the meeting, and the spiritual life of the membership has been considerably deepened. The preacher has been continuing his discussions nightly to teaching the congregation the gospel plans for the salvation of men, and untold good has been the result. A good crowd of people heard the discussion of the Sabbath question last night and there was a very impressive baptismal service at the close of the sermon. A baptismal service was also held at three o'clock in the afternoon. At the morning hour, today, Mr. Jones will preach a sermon to young converts and other Christians on "Continuing the Course." The Christian Endeavor society will meet at seven o'clock and every member is urged to be out as this is the third week in the contest with the Phoenix society. At 7:45 this evening Mr. Jones will preach on "The Millennium." Visitors and strangers are always welcome.

USUAL CONCERT TODAY

The Tempe band will offer its usual Sunday afternoon concert this afternoon from the veranda of the city hall. Plenty of seats are now provided about the plaza for the audience.

BEST COTTON IN THE WORLD

Never before have such encouraging words been spoken to Salt River Valley farmers as those uttered yesterday by Henry W. Roth, agent for McFadden Brothers at Providence and New Bedford. At the outset he apologized for not being able to make a speech but before he had finished he had placed the long staple cotton in competition with the world and pronounced the local product even better than that grown in Egypt and the famed valley of the Nile. "Plant every acre in the Salt River Valley to long staple cotton," exclaimed Mr. Roth, "and I will guarantee to take every pound of it at the highest market price. I can handle twenty thousand bales this year without an effort. Already the demands are becoming more urgent for Arizona cotton. The market has been created. It is now up to the cotton growers of this valley to supply that demand. The mills are waiting for it; they have tried its merits; they want more. I am sorry that the acreage in long staple cotton is not to be increased this year. When it has been discovered that this climate and this soil is capable of producing an article which has no competition in the world it means much. Growers should consider that the war was responsible for the prices last year. The cotton industry suffered along with every other."

He advised against growing cotton from the stump or in other words growing volunteer cotton saying that it was a practice that would surely deteriorate the staple if followed to any extent. He brought out the point very prominently that it would be much more easy to sell a large quantity of cotton in Arizona since a market had been established than a smaller quantity. He complimented the members of the exchange on the general outlook of the country, saying that he was not prepared to see such a highly improved community but had rather expected to see a small desert community. He answered numerous questions relative to the selling plan followed by his firm and advised that four grades would be sufficient for classification purposes but that since a larger number had been made and the mills had come to know the different grades one that will undoubtedly interest all. It is entitled "The Mystery Woman," is in two parts and has as its star, Cleo Madison. The two single reels are entitled "Sammy's Vacation," and "A Girl of the Pines."

M. E. CHURCH SERVICES

Services will be conducted as follows at the Methodist Episcopal church today: Sunday school at ten a. m., Mr. F. H. Simmons, superintendent. Public worship at eleven o'clock. The Rev. A. W. Adkinson, D. D. will preach. The doctor is a speaker of great ability and there should be a large attendance to hear him. Reports from the various departments of the church will be reviewed at the opening service. The Epworth league will hold the regular devotional meeting at seven p. m. The church service will follow. The interest in these meetings is very encouraging to those who have this work in hand. Wilbur, Fisk, pastor.

ENTERTAINED AT LUNCHEON

A very prettily appointed luncheon was given at the home of Mrs. D. G. Buck East Fifth Street yesterday, for Mrs. Edwin Jones of Bisbee and Mrs. Mark Mitten of Buckeye, who are in the valley for a few days. The guest list includes a number of the mothers of the members of the Clover Leaf club, a social organization of young ladies that held away in Tempe some eight or nine years ago. Among the invited guests were: Mrs. C. B. Holmes, Miss Alta Holmes and Mrs. F. A. Hough of Phoenix, Mrs. M. J. Patterson, Mrs. E. Schmidt, Miss Laura Schmidt, Mrs. W. N. Windes, Mrs. F. H. Ballon and Mrs. E. C. Woodmanse. Mrs. Fred Patterson and Mrs. R. W. Nichols were the hostesses.

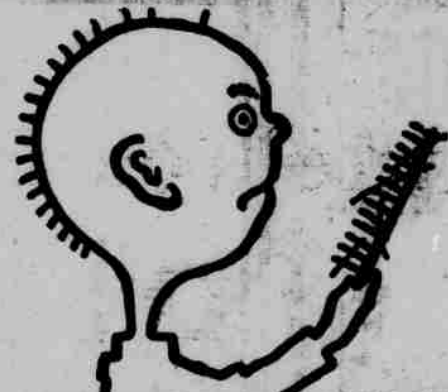

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

As the commencement time of the Tempe high and normal schools draw near, the public eye begins to watch for the annual class play. The high school has extended beyond the senior class this year, and is drawing from the entire school in search of a corps of producers who will make their offering to the public a pronounced success. "The Captain of Plymouth" is the title of the production and even as another aid in making it the best ever, the normal auditorium and the immense stage there has been secured for its presentation on the night of the 23rd. A comic opera qualifies the play, and according to those who have watched the rehearsing it is beyond and above anything the high school has ever before offered.

CHANDLER PLAYS HERE

The Mexican All-Star of Tempe has a game scheduled with the Chandler nine for the local field this afternoon at three o'clock. Last Sunday the two teams battled fourteen in-
